I Corinthians 4:2 says, "Moreover it is required in stewards that a man be found faithful." If one individual could be chosen that has impacted the ministry of Calvary Christian Academy more than any other person it would have to be Miss Cathy White.

1995 marks Miss White's 20th year of teaching and training young people to serve and love our Lord Jesus Christ. She has been actively involved in numerous teaching positions and is currently serving her 13th year of supervising at the elementary school. Not only has she been source of wisdom for the young people of Calvary, but she has been a source of direction and inspiration to the many teachers who have served under her ministry. "You are the molders of their dreams..

Your every smile or frown can heal or pierce a heart.

Yours is the pride of loving them, the sorrow too.

Your patient work, your touch, make you the god of hope that fills their souls with dreams, and make those dreams come true."

by Clark Mollenhoff

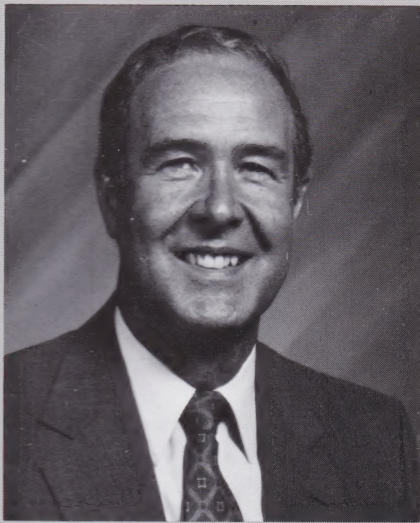

▲ Taken in 1984, Miss White gives her life to train young people to love Jesus Christ. Salvation decisions of which she has had a part can only be counted in heaven.

▲ Supporting even high school activities, Miss White enjoys the fellowship of friends and parents.

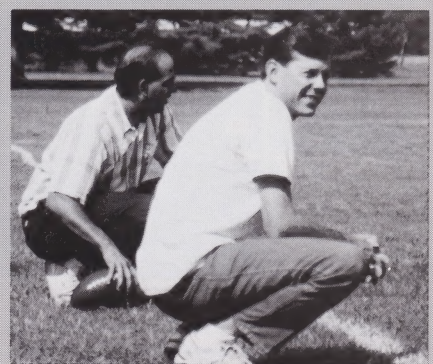

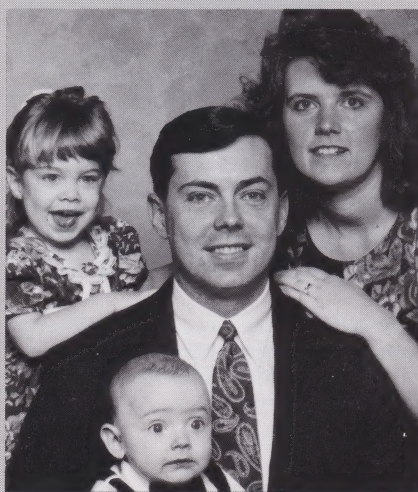

Pastoral

"How beautiful... are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace, that bringeth salvation..." Isaiah 52:7. To teach and preach the whole counsel of God is the burning desire of the men God has graciously sent to Calvary Baptist Church. Pastor Hall has served faithfully for over eleven years. He has shared his vision of growth for Calvary over and over again. Whether it be in physical growth in seeing the beautiful Activity Center built or in spiritual growth in giving his life to see other lives built. Pastor Hall, week after week, has abundantly fed the flock of God. The people of Calvary are wonderfully blessed and grateful for his wisdom and burden for the church.

Youth Aflame, a ministry for the youth of Calvary, is directed by Pastor Hansen. The young people are constantly confronted with many penetrating principles of God's Word and a challenging example of Pastor Hansen. Often his office is frequented by young people to enjoy either enthusiastic fellowship or timely advice or counsel from God's Word. God alone must be glorified for the men God has provided for the reaching and teaching souls in Ypsilanti.

▲ As always, Mr. Hansen and Mr. Steinhaus involve themselves in the activities of students at Camp CoBeAc.

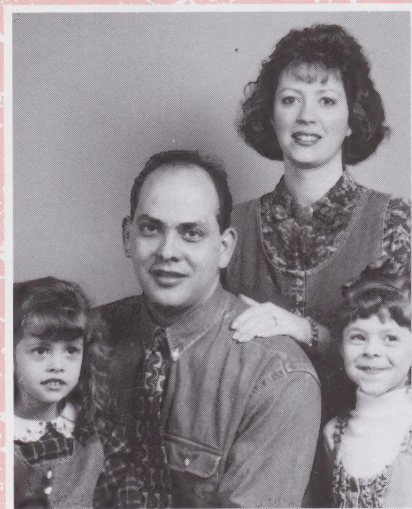

Administration

While at Calvary Christian Academy Mr. Steinhaus has taught the Junior and Senior Bible class. He has been the administrator of Calvary for five years. Mr. Steinhaus attended Maranatha Baptist Bible College, where he majored in secondary education and minored in physical education. Last summer, Mr. Steinhaus finished his masters degree in administration at Pensacola Christian College. Mr. and Mrs. Steinhaus have two children Rachel and Allison.

After asked the question, what he liked most about Calvary Christian Academy, Mr. Steinhaus replied, "the kids." When he was asked what he would like to change about our school, he replied, "I would like to update the equipment and most of all I would like to see more kids with the desire to serve the Lord."

Mr. Steinhaus' goals in being a good teacher and administrator are to impact knowledge, while teaching students to have a purposeful function in society and to produce educated young people who will succeed in college. Most of all he would like to instill Biblical principles so the students will become more like Christ.

▲ Throughout the years Mr. Steinhaus has given the students many powerful lessons, teaching them to be more like Christ and good leaders.

"Leadership is the capacity and will to rally men and women to a common purpose. And the character which inspires confidence."- Lord Montgomery

"There is no such thing as a self-made spiritual leader. He is able to work in and through him to a greater degree than in those whom he leads."-Frank Hamrick

Staff

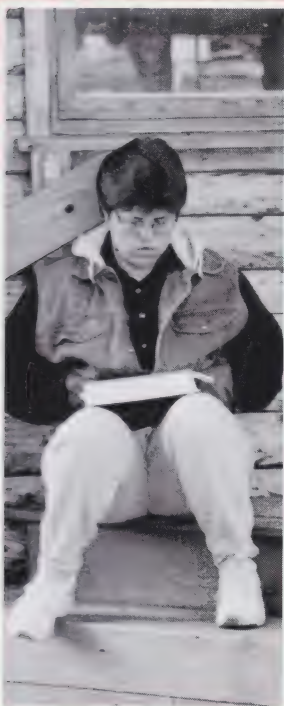

"To teach students to be more like Christ and to teach them to be good patriots," was Mr. Hansen's goal in being a good teacher. Some of the other teacher's goals included the following: "To teach in a way students can understand, and that lives might be changed as a result of this understanding"-Miss Frisch "To teach"-Mr. Davis "That some day Kristi Hyslop will be able to sit through a class without talking"-Mr. Wood.

When asked the question, "What is your favorite time of the day?" all the teachers agreed "The morning and third hour." "Mornings are the start of a new day and new beginnings," said Mr. Steinhaus.

We are privileged to have some of the most dedicated teachers at Calvary Christian Academy. They are constantly "going the extra mile". No matter how busy they are, they're always willing to take time out to help the students.

To go from being the ruling "upperclassmen" of the elementary building to the lowest of the "lowerclassmen" in the high school was difficult. However this class did not just overcome opening their lockers and changing classes, but greatly contributed to the spirit of the school.

The seventh grade guys in their first year of sports especially contributed to the Jr. High soccer team, helping the team win third place in the Stateline Invitational Tournament.

Many participated in choir and band this year. Seth even sang and played his guitar in chapel.

Even though they lost Spirit Week they won several competitions, including the pudding feed and rootbeer drinking contest. Seth also proved his basketball skills in a class challenge by spinning a basketball for thirty seconds. The seventh grade claimed that their wall was "way better" than the eighth graders and they will win Spirit Week next year.

To win spirit week in the Jr. High was a great accomplishment for the eighth grade this year. Throughout the week they worked hard to win as many competitions as possible and on Thursday did an excellent job decorating the gym entranceway. Many of their lunch periods were spent challenging the seventh grade to several eating competitions, some of which involved eating olives, sardines, and marshmallows. To top off Spirit Week, they graciously offered to help serve at the Homecoming Banquet.

The eighth grade also enjoyed a trip to the planetarium with Miss Frisch. Here they experienced a unique view of celestial bodies, and learned to appreciate the precise orderliness and handiwork of God's creation.

Many of the eighth graders participated in sports again this year and the experience they had gained as seventh graders helped them become leaders and valuable players on the teams.

Weekly, the Freshman class along with their sponsor, Mr. Yonge, faithfully sold sloppy joes to earn money for next year's Homecoming Banquet.

This year, the Freshman doubled their enrollment from the previous year. The ninth graders had to compete against the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth graders during Spirit Week which made winning next to impossible. The Freshman decorated the mezzanine in the gym with various posters, banners and red and white balloons. Their class Homecoming representatives were Shanna Raymond and Joe Goodrich.

The Freshman were asked, "What is your favorite class and why?" Jason Calhoun answered, "Seventh hour gym, because of the vigorous workouts and extensive exercise." Lee Legg said, "Seventh hour because you don't have to wear school clothes." Sarah Hunt replied, "Second hour Algebra I, because you can have fun and John Young is always being dumb."

Even though the Sophomore class was the largest class in the high school, they were also one of the closest.

Although losing Spirit Week, the Sophomores dominated in their three challenges: boy's basketball, girl's basketball, and the girl's running relay. The Homecoming class representatives were Jessica Birk and John Cropsey.

Planning the Homecoming Banquet was fun but also challenging. White pillars and 75 red roses beautifully displayed the theme, "Petals of Time." Their sponsor, Miss Sevre, the students and parents spent many hours running errands, cooking, cleaning, and decorating the Fellowship Hall.

Perhaps one of the most memorable practical jokes this year was when John Cropsey and Joy Sharkey passed around a petition for Heidi Knepp to be the pooper scooper at the Donkey Basketball game. Seeking revenge, Heidi had Mr. Hansen yell at John for talking during prayer when actually he had his head bowed in his arms. The whole class could not stop laughing for at least an hour.

▲ While decorating the gym with cougar paws and banners some of the Sophomores, including Clark Barton, took a break to play some basketball.

Capturing the Spirit Jug for the first time was the high point of the Junior's year. They seized the Spirit Jug by 400 points over the Seniors. The Juniors won all of the class competitions except the root beer drinking contest and the Tug-Of-War. This year's Homecoming Representatives for this year were Heather Hatfield and Paul Wilson.

In order to raise money to pay for the Junior Senior Banquet, they sold tacos and pizza. Cooperating with Fox Hills Country Club they created a beautiful Junior Senior Banquet.

The Juniors gained three new students this year, Tamar Wolff, Jacob Stevens, and Brandon Voss. When asked, "What is your favorite part of the school day?", Paul Wilson replied "Spanish, when we can make fun of Mrs. McLamb." "Preparing for the Homecoming Banquet," was Sarah Yuille's reply when asked about her favorite group activity. The Juniors had a great year and are looking forward to their last year of high school.

While the Senior year is the busiest, and perhaps most difficult year in high school, it is also the most memorable. It marks the end of many steps of life, but it is the beginning of many other opportunities and challenges. Decisions and choices are faced with much prayer and anticipation as successful futures are sought.

The Class of 1995 has acquired many special memories in their years together at CCA. They can never forget all the hard work in planning Spirit Week their Freshman year, putting together the Homecoming Banquet their Sophomore year, and organizing the Junior Senior Banquet their Junior year. Celebrating Christmas parties, the class shared good times at several locations including, the gym, Jay's farm, and the Wood's home. Between the fun times and the hard work, the Senior class has grown closer together.

Sixty-four percent of the Senior class have dedicated their lives to full-time service for the Lord. We encourage the Class of 1995 to continue in the Lord's will and remember that "yesterday's possibilities are simply today's challenges."

Time To

Win

Girls' Basketball

With the leadership skill of several eighth graders, the Calvary Christian Academy Junior High team fought several excellent battles ending with a season record of seven wins and four losses. Hours of practice on the basic skills of shooting, passing, and dribbling proved to be well worth the effort. Before each game, the team paused to sing "Jesus, Jesus, Keep My Eyes Fixed on You." With the focus on giving Him praise, the team learned that success comes in giving Him first place.

After losing four of the five starters from last year, the Varsity girls' basketball team had to practice extra hard from the beginning of the season. Throughout the season, the girls learned how to play together as a team. Coach Frisch, with the timely help of Mr. Birk, Mr. Bose, and Mr. Hartenburg, taught better ball handling, defensive, and offensive skills. Though not playing, the statisticians, Heidi Knepp and Amy Turner, proved to be a valuable asset to the Varsity team.

Soccer

When asked about his team, Coach Yonge affirmed, "Despite the 3-8-2 record, the Varsity Soccer Team played well for having so many young players. Highlights of the season included victories over Emmanuel and Rochester Hills, two of Calvary's soccer rivals. Joshua Cropsey will be sorely missed, but with three Seniors and eight Juniors returning next year, we are looking for a much improved record."

The Junior High soccer team had a great season. They were rewarded for their hard work and effort with a 6-5-2 record. Coach Davis is sad to see the eighth grade go, but he is looking forward to the talent coming up next year. Matt Jessee scored a high of fourteen points and Josh Gorham was second in line with eight points. These players couldn't have done it without the help of their "Defensive Dynamo," Jason Meredith. The eighth grade will be adding immense ability to the varsity team next season.

Volleyball

Both volleyball teams had extremely exciting seasons this year. There were many close games, several of which were won by heart alone. Though neither of them had winning records, both worked hard to glorify God and experience great improvement over the course of the year.

Beating one of the school's all time rivals, Inter-City, was the highlight of the season for the varsity team. After fighting for three long matches the team was spurred on to victory by one of Crystal Messer's awesome kills.

Excellent spiking by Amy Turner, Faith

Richards, and Christan Halfmann also proved valuable throughout the season and at the MACS tournament. Though they did not place in MACS this year, the girls advanced further than they ever had before.

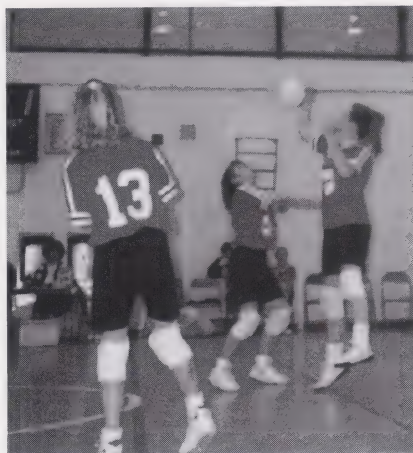

Our zealous seniors will be greatly missed next year. Their leadership qualities and encouragement helped the team work together to fight for every point.

The varsity team looks forward to the addition of the eighth grade girls, whose two years of experience will help fill in the gaps left by the seniors this year.

Softball and Baseball

"Pitcher poor" was how Coach Frisch described the ladies' softball team at the beginning of the season. Consequently, pitching practices were set up and two girls emerged as the full-time pitchers: Shirley Woodworth (Senior) and Deanna Raymond (Junior). Both of these girls were faithful in their determination and the team is thankful for their leadership. Unlike other years, the eighth grade were able to participate in softball this year. The highlight of the season was defeating Bethany Christian in a close battle, winning 22-21.

After several years of rebuilding, Coach

Steinhaus was privileged to watch his young men work harder than any other group of men he has coached. Todd Garrett, Senior, proved to be a tremendous asset on the team and was awarded for his leadership. Coach Steinhaus feels that there is much hope for Calvary's baseball team to be resurrected in the coming years.

Cheerleading

Both the Jr. Varsity and Varsity cheerleading squads did an excellent job of cheering for the basketball teams. The Jr. Varsity were mostly first-time cheerleaders. They had much work and practice to do from the beginning of the season to learn the cheers. The girls succeeded at making up new cheers and mounts for their squad. During Homecoming, they patiently assisted the elementary cheerleaders. Throughout the season, the J.V. girls cheered for both the Jr. High basketball team and the Jr. Varsity basketball team.

The season was a good season for the Varsity cheerleading squad. They put more emphasis on doing bigger mounts and doing more crowd cheers. With the incredible creative talent of Captain Shirley Woodworth, both squads cheered the school song to arouse the spirit. Every move was carefully planned and executed.

Each Monday, both squads would get together and one cheerleader would give a short devotional. They would then share requests and pray together as a team.

"The season was off to a good start with spirit clackers in hand and a cheer on our lips. The cheerleaders worked hard to promote squad unity and school spirit. It was a blessing to listen as the girls took turns with devotions and shared prayer requests. We all learned to be focused on the Lord lest we stumble and fall. I hope this will be a reality in each of their lives." -Coach Davis

JH and JV Basketball

"The JV team went through a learning process this season. Each player learned responsibility, work ethic, and team play for both physical and mental preparedness. Injuries, as well as other factors caused the team to play without reserves. This combination caused obstacles the Cougars could not overcome. The team looks to improve next year with the returners owning a great deal of game time experience."-Coach Hartenburg

The JH team deserves an "early-rising" trophy for the hours of practice before the break of dawn. This team fought many games that were not decided until the final countdown. Homecoming was especially disheartening losing to Huron Valley by one point. A highlight from that game was when Matt Jessee swished a two-pointer impulsively over his head just inside the three point line moments before the buzzer. In a later rematch against Huron Valley, Calvary conquered by three points.

Varsity Basketball

This year was a rebuilding year for the team. Graduation opened opportunity for many underclassmen to show their stuff and their potential for the future. The Cougar's emphasis has been on a fundamental, sound offensive play and a strong defensive concept. The team finished the season with an 8-14 record. Success follows right motives and good attitudes. With the able contribution of assistant coach Mr. Hartenburg, Coach Benefiel's Cougars took steps toward what should be a very exciting and competitive 1995-1996 season. The CCA athletic program appreciates the dedication of it's athletes and parents and looks to the future for opportunities to lift up the Saviour in the pursuit of athletic excellence.

School Camp

Camp was an exciting, new way to start off the school year. Many decisions and commitments were made by the students to follow Christ and do His will. Every day was jam packed with chapels, athletic practices, activities, and God and I time.

Evangelist Stan Harris, who has a black belt in Karate, demonstrated many of his skills during the services. One of the most remembered was when he sliced a watermelon on Mr. Wood's stomach with a samurai sword. It was very scary for Mr. Wood, especially since he knew Stan Harris was blind-folded.

Each class was assigned a job everyday, whether it was to set up dishes, wash them, or clean the bathrooms. Everyone learned how to be disciplined and how to have fun.

Many of the students did not want to go to camp, but by the end of the week they did not want to leave. Everyone is looking forward to going to camp next year.

▲ The Sophomores quickly return the ball to the Seniors in a heated game of "Big Volleyball" at CoBeAc.

► Powerfully illustrating the reality of hell, Stan Harris shatters the burning bricks in one strike. Many life-changing decisions were made for Christ that evening.

◀ "No reserves," prays John Cropsey as he dives to save the day on the sand court.

▲ "Ready! Aim! Fire!" Corey Taylor, Kenny Legg, and Mr. Alverson all take aim as a poor, innocent squirrel passes in front of their targets during free time. Lucky for the squirrel, they all missed.

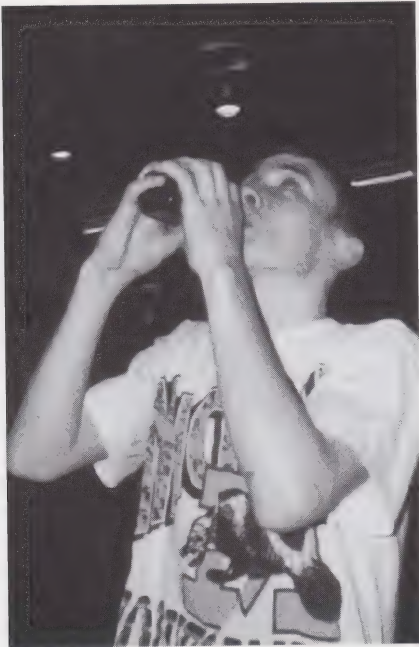

Joshua 1:8 "This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success."

Spirit Week

The Honor Society worked hard this year in organizing Spirit Week. They provided all the materials needed for the games and prepared everything for competition and cleaned up afterwards. Instead of a wall decorating contest, the Honor Society decided to have the school "work together" to make the gym look better than ever before. Complementing the yearbook theme, "A Time to Show Our Colors," the gym was amazingly decorated in red and white. The Honor Society thought of new games but also tried to keep the tradition alive with old ones. Games played were: tug-of-war, root beer drinking contest using a baby bottle, human wrap, banana relay, pudding feed, balloon shave, and blind-man's volleyball. Classic dress days were hilariously observed throughout the week. Monday- Sr. Citizens Day, Tuesday- Twin Day, Wednesday- Western Day, Thursday- Bum Day, Friday- Red and White Day. The grades received points through class participation and winning games.

▼ The eighth graders defeat the seventh graders in a tough game of tug-of-war.

CCA SCHOOL SONG:
 "Let's cheer for the school that we love!
 May we ever be proud of it's colors.
 It's emblem we daily shall wave.
 It's the sign of the true and the brave.
 HURRAH! for the Calvary Cougars!
 'Tis the cry of each faithful son and daughter.
 May we ever be loyal to you.
 You are the best by every test
 Our Alma Mater! HURRAH!
 (To the tune of "Stars and Stripes Forever")

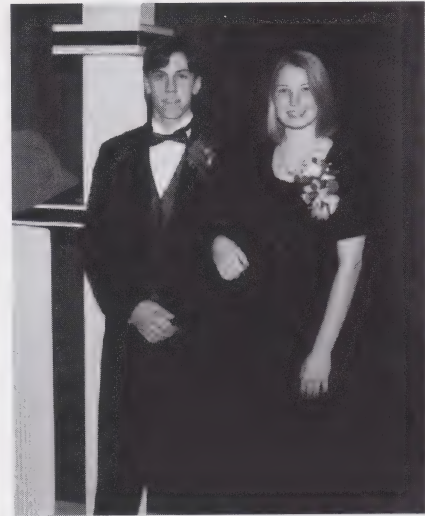

Homecoming

The culmination of a week of spirit and enthusiasm was the traditional Homecoming Banquet. The Sophomore class officers began working diligently in November to make it a night full of special memories for the Homecoming court and those who attended.

After many hours of hard work and preparation, "Petals of Time" became a success. Scores of red roses and several white columns gracefully added to the elegance of the evening.

The seventh and eighth grade classes quickly served the dinner the Sophomore moms had prepared. The meal included: chicken cordon bleu, green bean almondine, glorified potatoes, and rolls. The meal was topped off with white chocolate cheesecake and cherry cheesecake.

▲ Class Representatives: Freshmen Shanna Raymond and Joe Goodrich; Sophomores Jessica Birk and John Cropsey; Juniors Heather Hatfield and Paul Wilson

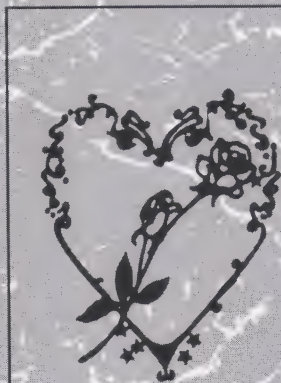

► Senior Representatives: Kevin Collins and Michelle Duda; King Joshua Cropsey and Queen Faith Richards; Scott Elwart and Amy Turner

◀ Best friends, Cinda Compton, Laura Woodworth and Shanna Raymond share their first homecoming memories together.

Special guests, Pastor and Mrs. Biter of Metro Baptist Church, sing several appropriate songs including "The Perfect Rose." "Hands reached out without a reason, crushed and bruised the perfect Rose, causing yet a sweeter fragrance as the crimson color flowed. Ugly thorns had never marred it, til a crown of thorns He wore, tasting death, the Rose of Sharon — Rose to bloom forevermore."

Junior Senior Banquet

The warm spring day of May 12 helped provide a perfect evening for the 1995 Junior Senior Banquet. Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth was the decided location the Junior class choose. This is always an extraordinary evening especially for the Seniors as it marks the final few gatherings of their High School career.

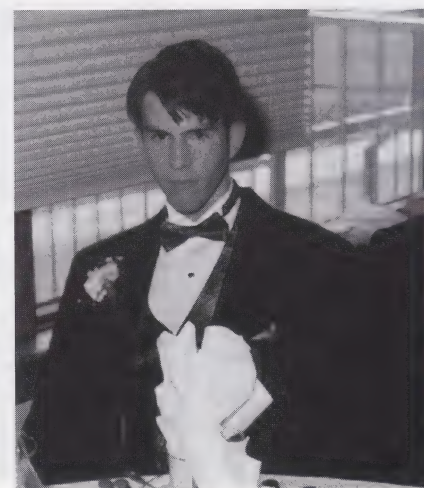

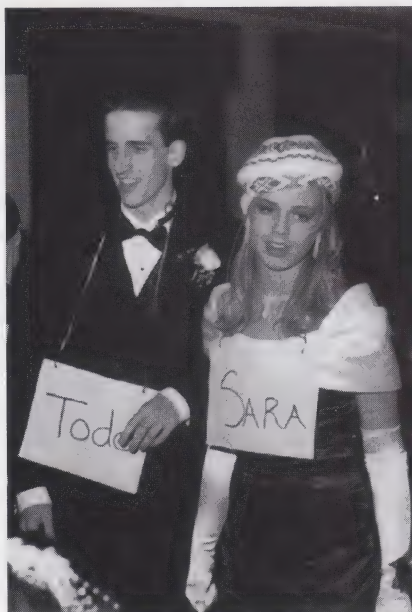

The evening started off with punch and pictures at 7:00 p.m. The white gazebo furnished a natural background for pictures. The guests also had an option of standing in front of the garden with cascading flowers. The meal started at 7:30 consisting of fruit, salad, baked potato, vegetable, and a healthy portion of both New York Strip Steak and Chicken Parmesan. For dessert, all enjoyed an ice cream sundae bar with all the fixings.

After dinner the class representatives read the classic "wills" and "prophecies." A good time of laughing and smiling was shared as they speculated about the future of the Seniors. "Friends, Find Us Faithful, and The Consecration Hymn" were sung by Tresa VerMeulen of Kalamazoo. The banquet speaker was John VanHolstyn, the athletic director at Calvary of Midland, MI.

As always, the Junior class adds a little levity to the evening by keying in on the idiosyncrasies of the Seniors. Juniors should remember they will be the laughed-at ones next year!

◀ Kristine Jones and Sarah Paschall, Juniors, reap the benefits of many hours they spent preparing for the banquet.

▼ Senior gentlemen, Josh Cropsey, Todd Garrett, and John Savic pause to show off their tuxedos and "handsomeness" as they get in line at the sundae bar.

To our Class of 1995: "Memories"
 Tonight a curtain closes, and we take a final bow,
 To the four years of high school which are fast ending now.
 Let the time slow this evening for just an hour or two
 As we recall the memories that seem, right now, too few.
 Gathered all together, we will not say "good-bye,"
 For it is our thoughts of you that will never ever die.

Senior Trip

The unique Class of 1995 chose to go where no other class has had opportunity to go: London, England! After a long 8 hour flight and a bit of jet lag, the seniors and their four sponsors (Miss Frish, Dr. Cropsey, and the Steinhaus') began their 10 day adventure through the unknown streets of London carrying pounds and pounds of luggage.

Although being thousands of miles from home, the luxury of the Foreign Missions Club provided a relaxing atmosphere. Each day was packed with once-in-a-lifetime experiences and awe-inspiring sites. Westminster Abby, House of Parliament, Big Ben, Buckingham Palace, London and Tower Bridge, Warwick and Winsor Castle, and the Changing of the Guards were some of the unforgettable moments shared. Some of them even got to see Prince Charles! Transportation proved to be very confusing as the "tube" and trains were used daily to tour London.

A dull moment was never found from the wee waking hours when the girls accidentally got Jeremiah out of bed (4:00 AM), till the prime of the day when everyone was graced with Todd's antics and official "Bobby Hat."

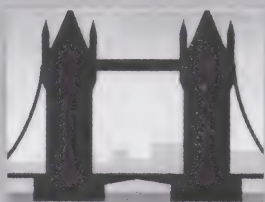

▲ Cute faces, Faith Richards and Shirley Woodworth, pose in Leicester Square.

◀ The Senior girls stop to butter up the "bobbies" at Kings Court Train Station.
▼ Tower Bridge over the Thames River makes an excellent Kodak moment for the Seniors.

From "Home-Thoughts, from Aboard"
by Robert Browning
"Oh, to be in England
Now that April's there,
And whoever wakes in England
Sees, some morning, unaware,
That the lowest boughs and the brushwood sheaf
Round the elm-tree bole are in tiny leaf,
While the chaffinch sings on the orchard
bough
In England-now!"

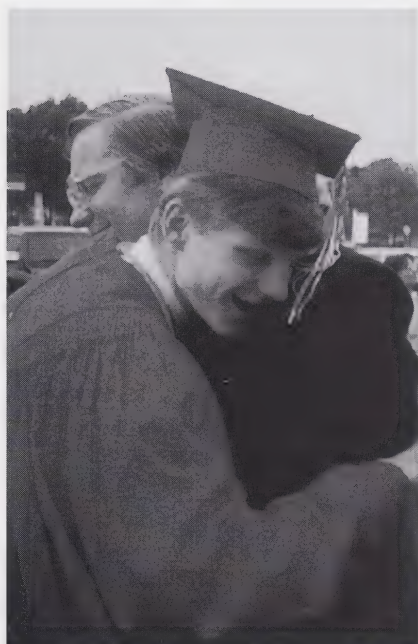

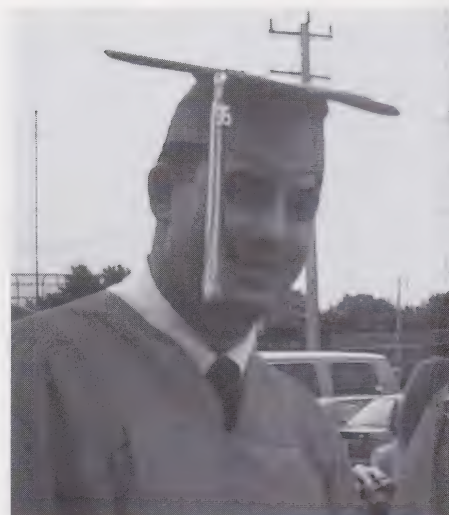

Graduation

The date of June 9, 1995 will long be remembered for it's memories and sentimental moments for the 15 graduates of the Class of '95. The elegant "Pomp and Circumstance" was announced by Warren Sears and Jason Boyette ('94) playing beautiful herold trumpets. Valedictorian, Kevin Collins and Salutatorian, Jay Talladay, reminded their classmates of the precious times they have shared and gave thanks to the many influencial people in their lives. President of the Senior class, Joshua Cropsey, presented the school with some needed gifts from the class (two overhead projectors, three stands, and two ball racks).

Two awards are annually given to the male and female senior who best represents and displays godly Christian character. This year, the "Ruth" Christian Character Award went to Shirley Woodworth and the J. Don Jennings' Founder's Award to Joshua Cropsey. Those graduating with honors were as follows: Kevin Collins, Joshua Cropsey, Michelle Duda, Scott Elwart, Faith Richards, Jay Talladay, Amy Turner, and Shirley Woodworth. Thank you, Class of 1995, for all you have added to CCA and for all you will add to the work of God in the future.

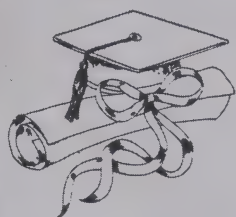

▲ The ensemble singing "In His Presence" and "The Reason We Sing."

◀ Valedictorian, Kevin Collins (4.0), and Salutatorian, Jay Talladay (3.95).

▼ Best buddies, Jackie Wiedmann and Sara Rieman share graduation memories.

Dr. Leigh Crockett, Pastor of Grace Baptist Church in Anderson, Indiana, was the 21st Commencement Speaker of CCA. Using Jeremiah 9:23-24 as his text, he warned and cautioned the Seniors about glorying in "wisdom, might, and riches"-three of the "best" things man can pursue. Contrariwise, God's Word instructs man to glory in the fact that he understands and knows God. May God burn this truth in the hearts of these Seniors and make them successful Christians in God's eyes.

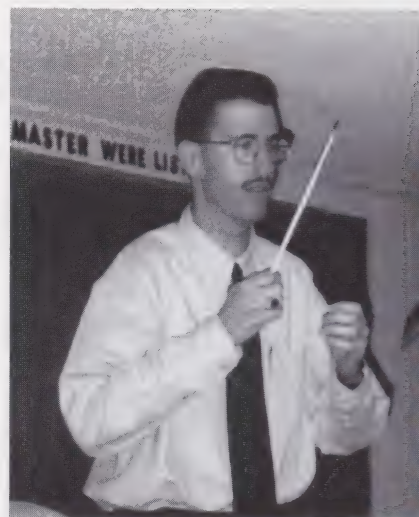

Band and Choir

With the intent to teach students the value of using their talents to serve the Lord, Mr. Alverson required that each choir student had to perform in church or at a youth meeting of some sort three times each semester to get an "A." Each semester, one chapel was set aside for a general assembly of students performing musically, either vocally or instrumentally. It was a tremendous blessing to see students yielding themselves to the Lord to give testimony that the "Lord is good."

Highlights of the band and choir repertoire include: SH band—"Cival War, and Rushmore." JH band—"Marine's Hymn and America the Beautiful." SH choir—"In Song We Unite and Consecration Hymn." JH choir—"Aura Lee and Arise, Arise America."

Beside the school assemblies, they performed at the Christmas program, MACS, and the Spring Program. Some chose to venture out on their own and perform individually at MACS. Wherever the students performed, skill and talent were developed to enhance the ministry of the local church. After all, that is what Christian school is all about.

"Although our choir was very small this year, we sang our best to proclaim the name of Jesus in our performances. In the end, each performance was a blessing in my life. I love glorifying my God through singing and want to encourage everyone to get involved in the choir. I want to especially thank Mr. Alverson for his teaching and patience with us and wish him the best in his future. I hope he will never forget us because I know we will never forget him." Amy Turner-President of Choir

Donkeyball

Once again, CCA's booster club creatively found another way to raise the needed funds for the extra-curricular activities. Four donkeyball teams were formed consisting of CCA staff, area pastors, juniors and seniors. To enjoy the halarious antics of the riders and their beasts, hundreds of CCA students and parents filled the bleachers and every extra chair that was set up. After several side-splitting games, the junior class proved to be the donkeyball champions. Appropriately, our two "Johns" (Cropsey and Young) rose to the occasion of being the prompt "pooper-scoopers" of the night.

▲ Junior, Suzanne Hepner, gains control of the ball and hopes to keep control of her animal.

"Representing CCA in the best possible way," was Miss Sevre's goal for the 1995 yearbook. Comprising of only five staff members, they had to work harder than ever, even raising over $2500 to cover 75% of the total yearbook cost.

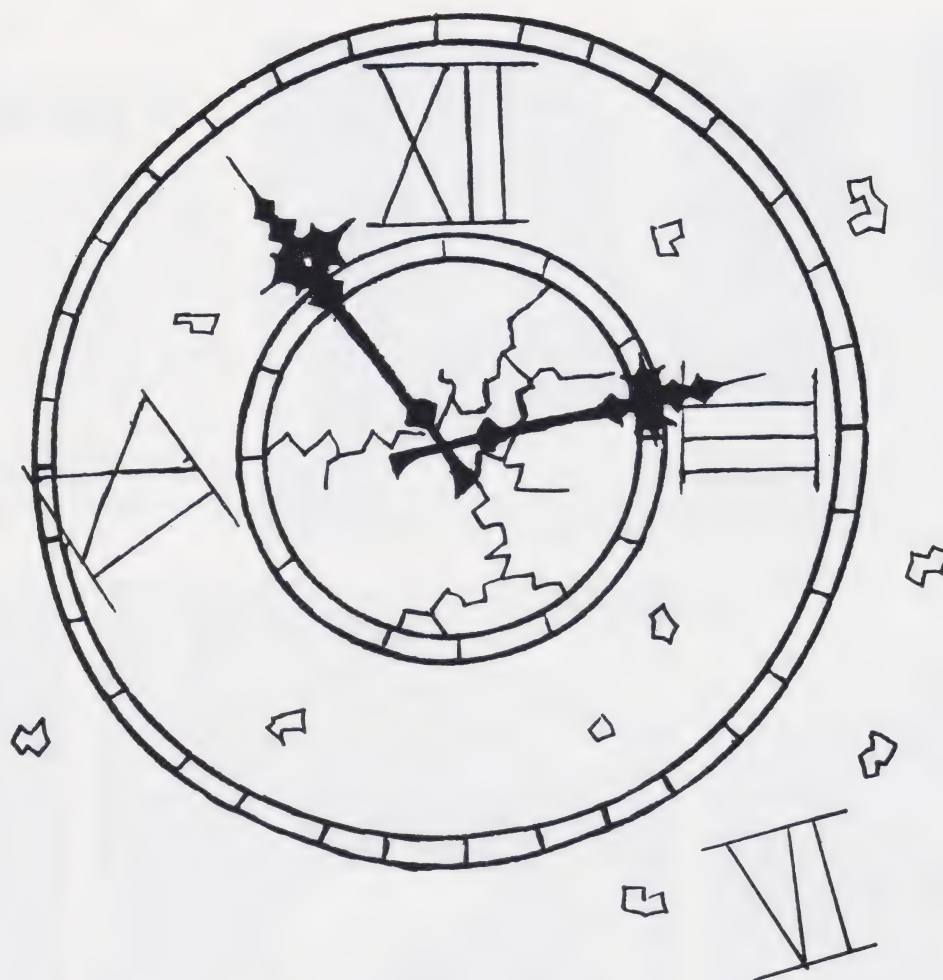

With the diligent work of our editor, Jeremy Birk, the entire yearbook was entered on the computer this year in hopes to create a contemporary and outstanding yearbook.

To promote student sales, the staff performed several modified commercials in chapel including Clorets, Little Caesars, and Ri — cola.

▲ Staff includes Miss Sevre, Joy Sharkey, Heidi Knepp, Jeremy Birk, Shirley Woodworth, and Faith Richards.
 ◀ "I've got a sister?" shrieks Heidi and Joy in their Little Caesar's commercial.
